GREEK RALLY HALTS ITALIANS IN MOUNTAINS

Soldiers Cling Stubbornly to Defensive Posts in High

BULLETIN
By The Associated Press
LONDON, Oct. 29.—Germany has concentrated about 70 army divisions in southeastern Europe, a British military expert declared today. (This would be about 1,250,000 men.)
These concentrations, in the expert's view, indicate that the Germans feel Russia is preparing for any eventuality and that Germany wants to insure that the Soviet does not interfere with her plans.

By The Associated Press
Singing their ancient war song,
"We will throw them into the sea," thousands of Greek reserves rushed to the mountain passes along the Albanian-Greek frontier line in the mountains passes of the Greece today against the onset of steadily strengthening Italian forces.

Conflicting reports gave an uncertain picture of the 24-hour-out fighting.
Diplomatic quarters in Rome said Italian troops—the vanguard of 200,000 massed for the assault
along the Albanian-Greek frontier
—had broken through to a point five miles beyond the border, striking toward Salonika.

Government circles in Athens said that the Fascist invaders had been unable to drive back Greece's mountain defenders and that the conflict was "localizing along the border."

Greek troops were described as clinging stubbornly to key points guarding the mountain passes against hard Italian thrusts.
Reports that British troops landed on the island of Corfu, in the Ionian sea just off the border fighting scene, touched off a wave of enthusiasm in Athens.

Speeding help by land, sea and air, under a pledge to air Greece
if attacked, the British were reported planning to establish an air base at Corfu so RAF warplanes could guard practically defenseless Greek cities and also be within striking distance of Italian objects just across the Ionian sea.

Britain Speeds Aid
In London, military informants reported Britain was hurrying military assistance to Greece in the widest sense of the term, but said reports that British troops had landed on the island of Crete were probably circulated by "the enemy" to justify Italian action.

Action along the Greek-Albanian frontier, according to reports received in London, was mostly restricted to artillery duels, with the Greeks repulsing raiding from some advance posts.
For the first time, the Italian and German public were permitted at least an inkling of information on the situation today.

Hitler's controlled press discussed that Italy had served an ul-timateum on Greece—the ultimatum was delivered at 3 a. m. yesterday (12 p. m. Marion time, Sunday)—but kept Germans in the dark that a new battlefront for the Rome-Berlin axis had actually developed.

In Rome, Mussolini's high command gave the first official announcement of the invasion in a radio communique devoted exclusively to Italian troops action.

"At dawn yesterday, our troops advanced in Albania crossed the Greek frontier and penetrated into enemy territory from various points. The advance is continuing."

Air Base on Crete
The Rome newspaper Il Piccolo said a dispatch cited Athens, said the British occupied an air base at Crete several weeks ago and had been equipping naval and air bases in the Greek Cyclades islands near the Italian Decade-canne Islands in the eastern Mediterranean.

Psychological Riddle
An inconsistent, unpredictable man is no man to be three

Willkie, In Ohio, Replies To Charge of Roosevelt G.O.P. Hindered Defense

President Back in Washington After Campaign Speech in N. Y.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—President Roosevelt returned to the capital from a campaign trip today to open at noon the ceremonies attendant on the nation's conscription lottery.

Also awaiting him on his return from a New York political appearance, in which he charged that Republican leaders had "reversed themselves in midair" on national defense, were neutrally act problems born of warfare in the Balkans.

Secretary Hull and Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, were summoned to the White House for a conference at 9:30
a. m. on the turn of events which swept Greece into the European war.

Awaiting the Chief Executive's signature were the documents to proclaim Greece at war, bring her under the cash and carry arms sales system, and "freeze" her credits in the United States.
And, shortly before the drawing of the first number to determine the order in which men shall be mustered for selective service, Mr.
Roosevelt was to explain to the nation by radio just what that step involved.

"Indicts" G.O.P. Leaders
For its record on defense legislation, including an amendment to the draft act, President Roosevelt "indicted" the Republican leadership in a speech at New York's Madison Square Garden last night.
Senate Republicans, he said, had voted 8 to 6 against an amendment "to prevent profiteering or unparliamentary obstruction by any corporation in defense work."

Their vote, he said in effect, he declared, that "they put money rights ahead of human lives." Outside the halls of congress at the time, he added, eminent Republican candidates had begun to turn new somersaults.
"At first they denounced the bill," the President asserted.

Marion's Schools Ranked Low in Operating Costs

Knowing the necessity of continuing the present three-mill levy for school operating expenses, The Star presents one of series of articles dealing with the importance of the levy, which will be presented to Marion city voters for renewal on Nov. 5.

Marion schools, for which renewal of the three-mill levy will be sought in the election next week, operate at a per pupil cost of $76.20.

Among the 15 Ohio schools of comparative size the per pupil cost of operation was $102.05, according to a survey of February, 1940, made by Dr. T. C. Holy of Ohio State University.

Marion's entire per pupil cost is nearly as large as the largest average item of expense, instruction. In the other schools cost of instruction is only $58.31, the average for the 15 schools is $75.84, a matter of 23 per cent more than instruction costs in Marion.

The average cost of all other expenses in the group of 15 schools is $26.11. In Marion the cost is $19.89.

In the "other expenses" tabulation are included plant operation, plant maintenance, auxiliary agencies such as libraries, and fixed charges such as insurance, taxes, retirement contributions which are fixed and which cannot be raised or reduced, and workmen's compensation.
"Other schools are spending almost as much for instruction alone as we spend for all purposes," Supt. E. E. Holt said the other day in discussing the renewal of the three-mill levy.
"In the percentage of the money spent per pupil we spend the same percentage of the gross for instruction as other schools of comparable size," he said, adding,
"our teachers are being treated fairly with the money we have to spend."

Six Volunteers in Marion County Due To Go First

Six Marion county men have volunteered for service and will go into training in the first call, before any one else from the county. Any registered man may do this by merely applying to his draft board, preferably in writing.

According to all indications, volunteers will comprise most of the first group of men to leave Ohio. Estimates of the first group have ranged from 900 to 1,500 for Ohio, which would make Marion county's quota somewhere between nine and 15 men. The call is expected Nov. 18.

The volunteers in the county are:
Lawrence A. Clark, 21, of near Prospect, farmer. His serial number is 1,362. Mr. Clark was the first volunteer for Board
No. 3.

John R. Elliott, 27, of 264
South State street, reporter on
The Star. His serial number is 498. He was the first to volunteer in the county.

Albert Foy, 26, of 202 1/2
North Main street, employed at 180 North Main street. His serial number is 135.

Evert S. Overdorff, 23, of near LaRue, employed by Walter Rothfuss of near there; CCC veteran. His serial number is 557.

Charles A. Shealy, 22, of 301
South Vine street, employed by Merle H. Hughes of Mt. Vernon avenue. His serial number is 974.

John L. Shearer, 23, of 138 Carhart street, employed as clerk in probate court. His serial number is 2076.

Youths between the ages of 18 and 21 may volunteer if they give the draft boards the consent of their parents.

All the six volunteers must first pass physical examinations before entering the service and must fall in Class 1-A.

Here Are County's Holders of First Draft Number

Three married men are the Marion county holders of draft registration No. 158, the first drawn in the national draft lottery today. Although they automatically will head lists of the county's three draft boards, the chances are that they will be given deferred status due to their marital ties. They are:

Joseph S. Gillespie, 24, of 190 Bellevue avenue, registered with Draft Board No. 1 (Wards 1, 2 and 3). He is an employee of the Erie Railroad Co.

Thomas H. Elder, 25, of 203 1/2
South State street, registered with Draft Board No. 2. He came here from Mt. Vernon six months ago and is employed as an office worker and truck driver at the Schlaifer Transfer Co. He is the father of a three-year-old daughter and a six-months-old son.

Wilbur F. Mohel, 33, a farmer living north of Waldo on Route 98. He has two children, one eight and the other four. He is registered with Draft Board No. 3 (rural Marion county).

The well-ordered files of Marion county's draft boards are all ready for use in determining who goes to camp and who stays at home.

Shortly before noon this morning the total number of registrants in the county stood at 5, 038, with other cards scheduled to come later, probably too late for the draft lottery which began at noon today in Washington.

The boards in Marion county and their registration statistics are:
Board No. 1 (Wards 1, 2 and 3)
—2,252 cards. They range from
No. 1 serial number to No. 2,252 serial number (three numbers) vacant because of transfers.) Harold E. Vanhook of 228 Oak street has serial No. 1 and Fay
W. Bell of 204 Latourrette street has serial No. 2,255.

Board No. 2 (Wards 4, 5 and 6)
—1,340 cards. Gerald R. Jennings of 219 Cummin avenue has Serial No. 1 and Charles Clarence Duff of 515 Pentz street has Serial No. 1,340.

Board No. 3 (rural areas)
—1,444 cards. Arthur Charles Mantz of Marion R. D. No. 5 has Serial No. 1 and Ralph Hawk of Prospect has No. 1,444.

The boards, on receiving master lists of order numbers drawn in the Washington lottery today, will begin assigning order numbers to their registrants.

All the men with the same serial numbers in the county's three draft districts will not have the same order numbers. This results from the fact that the total number of registrants is not divisible by three.

Draft Order Numbers for Marion County

Below are the names and addresses of the Marion county men who come under the top serial numbers drawn for the selective draft in Washington today.

Whether and when these men are called for service training depends, of course, upon the classifications, some of which provide for deferment.

The list that follows includes those numbers drawn up to press time today. The others will appear in their order in succeeding issues of The Star starting tomorrow and the list will be completed as soon as publication facilities will permit.

The first number given is the order number. After this are the names and serial numbers of the men in each of the county's three draft districts, making three names for each order num-

NO. 158 TAKEN FROM BOWL BY SEC. STIMSON

Sec. Morgenthau Then Draws
192; President Opens Ceremony.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Holders of draft serial number 158 became first in order today for a year's military service under conscription.

That number was drawn by Secretary of War Stimson as "order No. 1" in the first lottery of the first draft ever held in the United States in peacetime.

Stimson held the number while pictures were taken and then handed the capsule to Major Edward S. Shattuck.

The second number today was drawn by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and President Roosevelt announced it as 102.

Attorney General Jackson drew the third number, which Mr.
Roosevelt announced as 6,230.

This was high in the list of numbers not now representing a registrant.

Secretary of the Navy Knox followed Jackson and drew No. 6,820.
Commerce Secretary Jones at 12:21 p. m. drew 8,885.

At this point President Roosevelt left the auditorium and Major Shattuck took over the announcing of the numbers.

Chairman Shattuck, Democrat of Texas of the Senate military committee drew the sixth number.
It was 4,770.

Representative Thompson, Democrat of Texas, of the House military committee drew No.
8,434.

He was followed by Representative Kilday, Democrat of Texas, who drew 6,282.

Representative Smith, Democrat of Connecticut, then drew No.
8,130.

The tenth number—5,892—was drawn by Col. Harry C. Kramer, and the eleventh—5,837—was picked by Colonel John D.
Langston.

Col. Victor J. O'Kellher then drew No. 5,485. When the first number—158—was announced by the President a woman seated in the auditorium let out a scream.
She told reporters her name was Mrs. Robert Bell of this city and that her son, Robert Bell Jr., who had No. 158, was 21 years old only last Aug. 27.

Mrs. Bell later walked to the platform and shook hands with Dr. Dykstra.

TRANSIENTS LACK DRAFT CARDS, PLACED IN JAIL

Federal Officers Called Into Investigation of Marion Case.

Two transients, unable to produce draft registration cards, were being held in city prison today while authorities continued an investigation into their backgrounds and records. One, 27 years old, told officers he had registered but that the card had been taken from him by several other transients.
The other, 32 years old, reported he thought he could register "anytime." Marion police called federal agents into the investigation and fingerprints of both men were to be forwarded today to the federal bureau of investigation headquarters in Washington, D. C. Both transients were taken into custody by railroad officers.

years old was found stuffed in a potato barrel at the edge of a

Police theorized the barrel was dumped from an automobile after the woman had been slain. The body was fully dressed. The legs protruded from the barrel.

BUDGET COMMISSION TO BEGIN TAX RATE WORK

Members of the Marion county budget commission, composed of County Auditor Harry V. Mount, Prosecuting Attorney Paul D.
Michel and County Treasurer to set up tentative tax rates for 1940 real estate assessments. They will go over the budgets of various subdivisions and arrive at tentative rates which then will be submitted to the state auditor's office in Columbus for approval.

Council Delays Vote On Anti-Gambling Ordinance

City council last night discussed but held off final action on an anti-gambling ordinance, modernized to include the numbers game and other forms of gambling that have developed in comparatively recent years.

The proposed ordinance is sought by the Marion County Ministerial association, whose committee on gambling was represented in last night's discussion by Rev. John R. Himes, pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran church.

Final action was held over to a future meeting at the suggestion of Councilman D. R. Biggart, who, after first announcing his intentions to vote against it, later proposed that action be deferred until all council members are present. Councilmen Cass and Williams were absent last night. Biggart added, "I might be converted in the meantime."

with Biggart against the proposal, and the fact two councilmen were absent would have prevented the measure from getting enough favorable votes for adoption, officially pointed out.

One Major Target
The ordinance is broad in scope, but its target is specifically the numbers game and other forms of gambling which involve the use of small slips of paper as evidence of a wager, such as a numbers game slip or a slip used as evidence of a baseball game or horse race bet.

The proposed measure would make possession of such slips conclusive evidence of the guilt of the person in whose possession or control the slips are found. This, Rev.
Himes pointed out to councilmen, greatly simplified the duties of police in obtaining evidence sufficient for conviction. Unless the ordinance is passed police must be

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Oct. 30—

ANOTHER high-pressure and aggressive day is read from the forceful combination of potent planetary figures. Affairs may be expected to move decisively, strenuously, perhaps belligerently and drastically, toward the goal of great objectives. This probably in coalition with groups, societies or organizations of vast scope and power. Weighty matters of both business and private character may be in the balance, which may be swayed from one polarity or the other by the ability to exercise good judgment, sagacity and definite constructive programs. Precaution and tact are enjoined, since there are signs of strange or surprising angles about impulse or personal entanglement complicate or undermine promising circumstances. Love intrigues may be imminent and dangerous. Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of great activity and stress, in which ultimate issues depend decisively on the use of wisely directed energies and faculties toward constructive and progressive objectives. Powerful groups are involved, whose influence may be for public, humanitarian educational or social welfare, and these should be approached with finesse and practice plans rather than over aggressively or insistently. Enticing complications of a sentimental, romantic or intriguing nature may arise to nullify some very hopeful and promising conditions.

A child born on this day should have an abundance of energy and talents for attaining its highest ambitions, which may lie in practical channels or in creative expression in cultural lines. It will be sound and dependable although having a subtle, intriguing and captivating personality.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

By Rita Mottus Hanson

YESTERDAY: As in a dream, Lynn Britton is riding across the Mongolian plain to a chariot of gold to a marriage with the Prince of Shani Lun. Although she is in love with Temu Darin, the Prince's faithful messenger, Lynn can not bring herself to dislike anything, even the old situation in which she finds herself. She feels herself drawn forward by a mystic presence she cannot understand.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE Desert Attack

LYNN bit her lips and forced herself to speak. "Also my heart warms to you." She felt a tremor in Temu's arm, but his face was expressionless, his eyes straight ahead like a soldier at attention. She scrutinized his profile with its strong nose and chin, the lean, bronze cheek that bore no scar. "We'll soon be in Delun," he said through closed teeth. She laughed and stepped away from him. "Faithful subject! Incurable in the end!" Yet, a vague depression clutched at her heart. He seemed so confident that she belonged to the Prince. Why, wondered her direct American mind. What queer, fatalistic twist gave him this iron control and determination? Simultaneously they became aware of a dull, droning noise. They whirled and looked south, searching for the noise. Temu was the first to see the tiny black specks in the sky.

"They've come," he exclaimed. "Three bombing planes!" The ships dipped low and circled over them. All the men in the camp were staring; Peggy had rushed out from her tent. The grazing horses began to mill with the herders trying to circle round them.

"You knew they were coming!" Lynn gasped. "What are they after?"

Temu watched the maneuvers in the air for a moment longer before he answered. "They're looking for a camel caravan bringing in contraband arms. They are Chinese government planes."

At that instant, the machines rose and straightened out in formation, headed east.

It was then Temu spied the caravan, lined up in several rows along the edge of a hill bordering the plain. They were just leaving camp for the night's march.

"There must be a thousand camels," muttered Temu, calling for his field-glasses.

The lanes had evidently zoomed low over the files of loaded animals, and straightening out dropped their bombs at spaced intervals.

Bulla handed Temu the glasses. Lynn was glad she had none; she could see enough as it was. Fire flashed, dust spouted; ammunition exploded with staccato bursts of drumfire that drowned the screams of the men and camels. A few of the animals stampeded and escaped. Some fell injured; many dropped dead. Others, loaded with explosives, disappeared into fragments of bone and skin and mist.

As the planes rose from the horizon, the watchers noticed that one machine lagged behind. It seemed to try to climb, and then made a neat landing on the plain about a mile to the south. Temu and certain of his men stood saddled day and night before a Mongol camp and raced down to the grounded flying machine, above which two ships circled like eagles watching their babe that had failed to fly.

The girls, left alone, looked at each other white-faced. They felt half stunned. Everything had happened with such incredible speed. Peggy turned and entered the tent with falter steps. Lynn would have followed her.

Dick Returns Suddenly she stopped and stiffened. A cricket had chirped. Or had she heard a low whistle? She turned toward the direction from which the sound had come—the cliff side of the elevation on which she stood. A cautious head rose over the rim of the canyon wall. Lynn recognized her half-brother.

She could not believe her eyes. As she stood rooted to the spot he beckoned her to approach. Instead of obeying the summons she turned and entered the tent.

Lynn spoke as casually as she could to Peggy, who had dropped down on her bed. "I am going to stroll around a bit. I'll return later."

Lynn noted that the few men who had not followed Temu were busy about the campfires. The sentry who always guarded her tent sat cross-legged beside a pile of baggage calling his supper. She walked to the promontory rim and dropped over the edge to Dick's side. He was trembling with excitement; the contagion spread to her.

"Thank God, you understood!" he whispered hoarsely. "What are you doing here?" she demanded.

"I've come to rescue you. If we can get away from here without being seen we're safe. I've a few men and horses hidden beyond a curve in the canyon. Not enough to attack this whitehorse troop but enough to take you from them. Come."

He saw her hesitate. "I always intended to rescue you, Lynn. Haven't time to explain now. Will you come?"

A moment's thought and she gave him her hand. They made breathless haste down the difficult cliff of dull, red clay, and, rounding the curve in the canyon, approached Dick's waiting men. A band of hard-riding Mongols who had had Russian military training, he explained. They hastily brought up horses for Dick and Lynn to mount.

The ride, too swift and desperate to allow for talking, did not end until late in the night when they approached the main body of Dick's encamped force. Not a large one, Lynn noticed, in comparison with Temu Darin's whitehorse troop.

Dick Britton helped his sister from the saddle. "We'll go into my tent," he said, "while I have a shelter put up for you."

Lynn dropped on the bed and stretched out gratefully; the short stirrups saddle she had ridden had cramped uncomfortably.

Still keyed up with excitement Dick strolled about the tent eating his bowl of boiled mutton and immense deposits of silver and gold and jade. There is copper and oil and a district of blue earth that may some day rival the diamond mines of Africa." He reached out and caught Lynn's hand.

"Lynn, we can make millions!" he said, and added, as he noticed the expression on her face, "we can also help the people, raise them from their filth and barbarism—civilize them."

She drew her hand from under his and hugged her knees. "Civilize them! Sherdook says that slaves are freed only from within."

"Sherdook!" Dick gave a short, exultant laugh. "Lynn, we surprised that old boy's camp last morning by the suit like near Waleh Tower Wells and carried him off, leaving Gersing for Temu Darin to find tomorrow."

"Did you harm Gersing?" Lynn demanded.

"We did not. You couldn't hurt that old battle-axe anyhow. She and the little Chinese maid remained in the ruins of the camp where Temu could find them."

"And what's more," Dick went on, "the lot of that bombing is not on us. The rebels paid us yesterday and took possession. Before this, they were after Temu Darin for the ransom we offered, now they'll be after him for informing the Chinese government of this arms shipment."

"But Dick, just what are your plans?"

He gave her a quick look from his cloudy eyes. "Do you really want to know?"

"I do," though she wondered how much would be false and how much true.

Don't be so sure, Mother! Yes, right now, nasty round worms may be crawling inside your child (without your even knowing it!) This dreadful infection may be "caught" easily, everywhere. If you even suspect your child has round worms, get Jayne's Vermifuge immediately! Jayne's Vermifuge is America's best known proprietary worm expellant; scientifically tested, and used by millions for over a century. It drives out large round worms, yet tastes good and acts gently. Who told you?

By NORMAN CHANDLER

Chairman, Newspaper Publishers Committee

NORMAN CHANDLER

THE German public believes Germany is protecting Norway and Denmark. The Russians think that southern Finland and the little Baltic nations came joyously into the arms of the Soviet Union.

You don't believe these things. Even through airtight censorship, the stench of a hundred high crimes in far places has reached your nostrils. How?

We've had businessmen and politicians and, yes, publishers in America who have tried to hoodwink the public. A good many have gone to jail and others are on the ash heap, tossed out by public opinion. You heard of these things. You'll hear of more. How?

We've had brave and true men in these same fields who have done great and good things for you and others. The news of their deeds has come to you, also. How?

There are ten or a hundred new plastics that promise us an amazing list of useful products. There'll be standardized television soon. Hollywood is making a whole series of patriotic musicals. There is a sale of children's coats today at one store, of men's wear in another. Vitamin B is a household word; you already know the names of several brands of food products which contain it. These things are news which you've picked up somewhere. How?

In your newspaper, of course, or perhaps in a bulletin from a newsgathering service, broadcast to you over the radio.

How news is gathered, how it is brought to you in articles and dispatches and advertisements is a long and interesting story. But you get the news—cheaply, accurately, quickly. Now let's see what you do with it when you get it.

In the first place you, the people, govern yourselves, regulate the affairs of your community, the state, the nation. Because you know what's going on, you are able to adjust your lives and your laws and your thoughts to the actual and factual world. In Germany or Russia fairy tales will serve as well as news, because the subjects of those states have all their thinking and governing done from what passes for the top.

In the second place you, the people of America, having the news and information about all that's offered in the market place, know how and where and when to buy the things you need and want for human comfort. In Russia you'd stand in line and take what was offered—if anything. In Germany, even before the war began, you'd get measured amounts of "ersatz"—substitutes—and like them.

In America then, the things you learn from your newspaper contribute largely to your liberty and mightily to your comfort. Of course, you must pay for your newspapers. The nation's newspaper bill is slightly less than the bill for candy, just a few cents a day.

I call it a fair bargain.

NOTE: The purpose of these regular Tuesday institutional advertisements is to make American life and American business better. Your suggestions, criticisms or reactions will be appreciated by the Newspaper Publishers Committee and its chairman. Address the committee in care of the Business Office of this paper.

Fund Drive To Go On Until Friday

spirited talk by J. E. Oliphant, campaign chairman, who gave a verbal spanking to some of the city's prominent citizens who "should take an interest in these things, but who didn't."

Cities Value of Fund
After citing point after point to show what a Community Fund does for everyone in a community, he expressed deep concern that "the tops in Marion are too busy to take an interest in a community drive of this kind."

"They are missing something that may mean much to them in 15 or 20 years," he declared, referring to the work of the fund agencies in building Marion's youth.

Without proper guidance the young people of today may become the radicals of tomorrow, and rule these same persons, who declined to contribute, in a way perhaps not pleasant.

Last Night's Figures
The total amount reported last night at the dinner meeting in the Masonic Temple was $1,741, raising the fund so far to $23,718. The quota is $31,000—shared by the Salvation Army, Y. M. C. A., Boy and Girl Scouts and Girl Reserves.

Opening the meeting was invocation by Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor of the First Evangelical and Reformed church. Group singing was led by Mrs. Eugene Moore with Mrs. Russell Bresler at the piano.

Entertainment was furnished by Miss Marilyn Meske, Miss America of 1938, and a group of young pupils from her dancing school. Taking part were Diana Rose Sakel, Jean Botkin, Garnet Jones, Maxine McClung, Dick Umbaugh and Delmos Moore. The program was arranged by Dr. Frank Mann.

Prizes for the evening were awarded by Louis E. Michel and Ben Turpin to Robert N. Heininger, Miss Dorothy Brownell, A. W. Kette, Earl S. Held, C. L. Midlam and C. G. A. Schmidt.

Frank Zoll of Anderson, Ind., campaign director, presided as reports were given. Mr. Zoll was to leave today for Anderson where he is Y. M. C. A. secretary.

Offers Congratulations
He expressed his pleasure at working with the Marion people and declared "I congratulate you no matter what the report is."

"There's been an awful lot of work done when 5,000 cards are turned in," he said. At one point he said that in general the reason for the campaign shortage came in the "big" cards, not the little ones.

Details of Reports
Highlights of the various division reports:

Industrial—A. W. Baker, superintendent of the Erie Railroad here, praised the response of the railroads to the campaign call, pointing out that they went over the top with a grand total of 849 subscriptions for $1,594.02. This was 25 more than 110 per cent over last year's total of $1,228.10.

The Osgood companies had a grand total of 329 subscriptions for $806.25, well over 110 per cent more than last year.

The Marion-Reserve Power Co. total was 158 subscriptions for $1,681.40, a total which drew special praise from Mr. Oliphant. Included was a company gift of $1,000.

The Huber Manufacturing Co. has more to report later, but has already 121 per cent of last year's total.

The Alloy Cast Steel Co. gave $40 more than last year.

Total for the Marion Steam Shovel Co. is $1,954, which also earned the praise of the chairman. In closing his report, Harold J. Grigsby, co-manager of the division, said he expected his workers would have the quota before Friday night.

Commercial—The chain store division with a quota of $1,900 raised more than $2,000 and "cleaned up" all its prospect cards.

The garage, service station, gas dealers, etc. had a quota of $910, but turned in about $1,100.

Other groups also turned in excellent total reports.

Women's division—Mrs. E. O. Smith, manager, reported all the workers have covered all their prospect cards. The division reported $357 last night.

Public Employees—Last year this division raised $700 and to date has raised $748, only $52 from its quota of $800.

Schools—This division completed its work last week, raising its full $1,000 quota, the only division to do this so far.

As each division reported, the managers and various captains expressed praise for their workers and appreciation for their efforts.

Mr. Oliphant in his closing remarks after pointing out that only $2,284 remains to be raised, declared:

"I don't think I was born a quitter. He said he believes there is much more than $1,000 'hanging around' waiting for Community Fund solicitors, and urged his leaders to work for it during the next few days.

"There are some (potential giver) who haven't done their part—and by golly—I want them to come through! It's their job. It's their city too."

He singled out no one in particular, but did mention some groups.

"Some of the public employees have done remarkably well," he said. "But there are some of the public employees who work day in and day out and get a pay check every month, who I'm ashamed to say, haven't done their part."

"There should be men up here (at the fund meetings) who represent the industries, who represent the commercial stores in this town—taking an interest in this campaign," he declared.

Regrets Absence
Mr. Oliphant declared "I'm just a bit disturbed when men of that type do not come to a meeting of this kind."

He said he had invited several to attend the meetings.

He pointed out what a successful Community Fund campaign means to various persons in Marion—to factory managers, to heads of stores, to other businesses, to the employees and to the average citizen.

As an example of fine cooperation he cited the action of the Defiance Pressed Steel Co. in shutting down the plant so that he could talk to the employees for 10 minutes.

After "getting this off my chest," Mr. Oliphant said: "I feel that some people needed it. I don't know whether it will reach them, I hope some of them who should hear it, do in time. They're not here tonight."

To the 275 fund workers he expressed appreciation for their efforts.

Thousands Jam Uptown Section at Penney Sale

Several thousand persons jammed the area around the temporary store room of the J. C. Penney Co. near the courthouse this morning as sale of merchandise salvaged from the company's recent fire started.

When the store was opened at 9 o'clock a crowd estimated at approximately 2,000 was waiting and later in the morning people were standing on the courthouse sidewalk and on the south side of Center street, outside the store room. As a safety measure company employees permitted only a limited number of persons in the store at a time.

Police reported that the crowd was one of the largest of its kind within the memory of the officers and on several occasions during the morning the throng threatened to get out of control, despite the fact that a half-dozen policemen were on duty.

Officers reported they had difficulty keeping the crowd out of the street but little difficulty with traffic on Center street was experienced. An alley between the store room and the courthouse was blocked off to traffic.

VITT OFFERS SYMPATHY TO HIS SUCCESSOR

OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 28.—Oscar Vitt, through his manager of the Cleveland Indians after a three-year tenure, extended "best wishes—also sympathy" today to his successor.

The successor will be announced later by the Indians, who at a directors' meeting yesterday decided not to renew Vitt's contract.

"I realized this was coming," Vitt said at his home here. "I gave them all I had. My conscience is clear."

"Whoever gets the job has my best wishes—also my sympathy," Vitt was the storm center of a players' rebellion last summer.

NEWARK CASE GRANTED SUPREME COURT REVIEW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Virginia Vandemark, Newark, Ohio, employee of the Owens-Illinois glass company, today was granted a supreme court review of a decision dismissing her suit against the company as a result of the contraction of stillbirths.

The company contended that under Ohio law in 1937 when suit was filed, an employee could not recover damages as a result of an occupational disease. The company further contended that the employee brought suit in the federal district court in Ohio to escape the application of state law.

II—Private Enterprise

This is one of a series of editorials summing up the qualifications of Wendell L. Willkie to be president of the United States.

THEME of Wendell Willkie's crusade for the kind of government he thinks America needs and wants is regeneration of private enterprise.

State socialism, the politico-economic plan which has captivated New Dealers closest to President Roosevelt, denies the right of private enterprise to exist. Mr. Willkie is unalterably opposed to state socialism and everything it stands for.

The issue of the election, as he sees it, is the individual vs. the state—the people vs. the politicians—whether America is to become more like Germany, Italy and Russia, or is to stop the trend toward authoritarian government and develop its own way of life in accordance with the principles on which it was founded 150 years ago.

As a businessman, Mr. Willkie had firsthand experience with the irreconcilable conflict between a centralized and arrogant political authority armed with public funds and private enterprise. He commanded wide attention by conducting an almost singlehanded fight to make the federal government reach an equitable settlement with his utilities company in the TVA district. Others, interested in his able exposition of the case, recognized in him a spokesman and champion for their views. A few followers began to say he would be a good man to go to the mat with the New Deal in the next presidential campaign.

It was not foreseen that his role would be complicated by the war in Europe, which diverted attention from the paramount domestic issue. If that had been foreseen, Mr. Willkie's friends might not have anticipated what now has happened—the really momentous realization of the presidential campaign.

Realization that America's ability to survive in a chaotic world demands solution of its domestic problems and a clearing away of confusion has turned popular attention to Mr. Willkie. The war in Europe, instead of proving a blessing to the party in power by distracting attention from its record, has had the opposite effect. In one way and another, the lesson of France, which collapsed under attack because it wasn't prepared internally to be strong, has penetrated national consciousness.

Wendell Willkie's theme of regeneration of enterprise to make America strong is gaining new converts rapidly. The people are beginning to understand what he is talking about. They are beginning to understand that they must choose between the way of France and the way of the United States.

No Fooling

WHEN John L. Lewis or anybody else bets a job on his political judgment, that—as the horse said when he bit into the needle in the haystack—"ain't" huy.

It must be conviction. A lot of citizens whose opinions of Mr. Lewis the last few years wouldn't bear airing in church are in the hot and itchy predicament of having to say "Amen!" to the speech he delivered Friday night under auspices of Democrats for Willkie. They kept their fingers crossed while he was reading the riot act against the Roosevelt administration, because that could have been, after all, only the sulphurous oratory of a man who got stung. But when he got to the point of promising to stack his convictions against one of the cushiest jobs in the hierarchy of organized labor, the ring of sincerity boomed out. Wendell Willkie has picked up a lot of converts, but few whose convictions have carried them to the extreme of betting their careers on him.

And why does Mr. Lewis, who has been charged with buying the New Deal's favor in 1936, feel like this? The question bothers a good many citizens who never thought they'd find him under the bedcovers with them. They swallow nervously over the thought there may be more than meets the eye. They have heard that Mr. Lewis called on Mr. Roosevelt recently and came out of the White House disgruntled. They are suspicious of bargain hunting.

They have the word of Mr. Lewis that he has given up on Roosevelt because of the latter's failure to pursue an objective of peace, to surrender his emergency powers, to preserve faith with labor, and to increase the security of wage earners by encouraging production. There is nothing fishy about any or all of those reasons. They may not make a bit of sense to voters who have decided that if Roosevelt is good enough for them he's good enough for their grandchildren, but they sound like gospel to the dissenters. If Mr. Lewis has to put his job up for auction because the latter aren't a majority a week from today, it might be no sacrifice to part company with men and women who have the habit, as Irvin S. Cobb puts it, of voting for a "species instead of a man." But don't think for a minute that Mr. Lewis thought he was going to lose his bet when he made it. That isn't the way he became a labor leader.

News Behind the News

Reason for Lewis Switch To Support of Willkie Analyzed.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Labor's behemoth John Lewis did not suddenly come to his decision to create the sensation of this campaign by supporting Willkie. Nor was his withdrawal from the Roosevelt political partnership in which he had invested half a million labor dollars only four years ago as much a matter of personal pique as it may have seemed to some upon whom it burst unexpectedly.

Willkie and Lewis have been friends for some years. They shared a mutual personal trust in each other. Their trusting relationship was so well known among their friends that this column was able to report before the Republican national convention last June that "a labor leader of outstanding Paul Mallon prominence" might declare for Willkie anytime thereafter, a warning which was repeated subsequently in stronger form with the definite identification of Lewis as the man.

But this does not explain all, or in fact anything more than the path which led them together. The ultimate explanation of their understanding is that they reached privately a common ground for mutual action advantageous to the causes they represent.

Smallest Labor Man

No matter what you may think of some Lewis policies of the past (his excesses in strikes and the bewhiskered companions he has failed to exclude at the extreme left of the C.I.O.) Lewis is acknowledged as the smartest man in the American labor movement of this generation. His errors have all been made on the practical side. Essentially he is a businessman and his product is labor.

As such, he, in his speech announced in effect, that he had made a deal with Willkie because he expected to get more out of Willkie than he could hope to get out of Roosevelt. If you read the speech closely you will have noted he mentioned the price—the expectation that Welr, Glrdler and the Independent steel men who successfully resisted the C.I.O., would permit Lewis to organize their plants and complete his organization of the nation's No. 1 industry.

The price seems to be reasonable. What the independent steel manufacturers feared most was government—labor domination which would pass control of their plants into the hands of socializing politicians. A fair organization of their workers, which does not merge the state and the union, is a democratic process they could not afford to resist. They should certainly be willing to pay it to avoid what they see as a labor dictatorship.

The "sensation" was no surprise to Mr. Roosevelt and the top White House labor people who had been dicker with Lewis for weeks. At late as 48 hours before the speech was delivered, certain C.I.O. men acting for the administration (Phil Murray in particular) were still working on him. They reported on the inside a week ago that Lewis told them he would not endorse Willkie if they could prove to him such an endorsement would cause a setback to the labor movement.

Three days before the speech, Mr. Roosevelt himself ostentatiously touched a matter he knew to be closest to Lewis' heart—the mine inspection bill. The President then wrote house leader McCormack, urging congress to pass the bill which Lewis had been toiling in vain to get through. His associates say Roosevelt was not offering this as a counter price to make Lewis change his political opinion. He knew then Lewis was lost, they now contend. His purpose was to wean the United Mine Workers away from Lewis by this declaration of interest in their cause.

Pressure

But the most terrific pressure the administration was able to organize against Lewis came up to him through local C.I.O. unions which already had declared in favor of Roosevelt.

In Democratic quarters it is said, and believed, that over 100, perhaps 200 locals, gave the Lewis lieutenant Phil Murray (who favors Roosevelt) that many petitions urging defeat of Lewis for re-election as head of C.I.O. at the Atlantic City convention soon after the presidential balloting.

Lewis sidestepped this pressure by announcing he would resign if Willkie is not elected.

Effect

How many voters Lewis will swing is debatable. The New Dealers who have formed alliances with most of the other top C.I.O. men are accustomed to say Lewis controls only the vote, his own. It was truly surprising therefore that Lewis claimed to have received a large number of telegrams and some public announcements from C.I.O. locals promising their allegiance after his speech.

The main immediate effect was upon the White House leaders and it was purely psychological. Their campaign was built on the assumption that Lewis was primarily a labor political movement. Lewis permitted the Republicans to conclude that if it was not a true labor movement, it was not anything.

Despite all that is naturally now being said pro and con to cover the implications of the Lewis switch, it is evident that both Democrats and Republicans wanted Lewis, wanted him badly, and that he went to Willkie for practical reasons.

Campaign Tactics of Both Parties Called Harmful to U. S. Welfare.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

EVEN though few may pay attention to it this week, next week when the election is over many more will wish they had set their faces more sternly against what George Washington called "the baneful effects of the spirit of party generally." For each side in this contest is resorting to a line of argument which, whatever it may be worth as a device for catching votes by bamboozling the innocent, is profoundly injurious to the peace and the security of the nation.

There is the effort of leading Democrats to make it appear that the election of Willkie will be a victory for Hitler; there is the effort of leading Republicans, and their new friend Mr. John L. Lewis, to make it appear that the defeat of Roosevelt will keep the country out of war. Mr. Willkie's partisans see clearly how deplorable it is to charge Mr. Willkie with being the candidate of Hitler. Mr. Roosevelt's partisans see clearly how shockingly unfair it is to charge Mr. Roosevelt with being a warmonger. But such is the baneful effect of the spirit of party that few voices are raised in impartial and vehement protest against the two calumnies simultaneously. Yet once the votes have been counted, and no matter who is the winner, the very first thing we shall have to do if we are to unite and to hold high our position in this dangerous world will be to undo the mischief we have done, the stains to heal the wounds that are being caused by these two calumnies.

Waste Of Effort

Much enmity has been employed in an effort to demonstrate that the one side or the other was the first to sin. This is a waste of effort. For one foul blow does not justify another. It is the country that is injured when foul blows are exchanged, and if the Democratic system is to work, it can only be made to work in the vital matters affecting the security of the nation, the leaders and spokesmen of each party insist upon restraint. Once they fall away from this standard, asking whether a certain "issue" will gain votes rather than whether they have the right to raise the issue, they are contributing to the demoralization and the degradation of popular government.

They are inciting a spirit which, as Washington insisted in the Farewell Address, "unfortunately is inseparable from our nature, having its root in the strongest passions of the human mind. It exists under different shapes in all governments, more or less stifled, controlled, or repressed; but in those of the popular form it is seen in its greatest rankness and is truly their worst enemy."

It serves always to distract the public councils and enfeeble the public administration. It agitates the community with ill-founded jealousies and false alarms; kindles the animosity of one part against another; foments occasionally riot and insurrection. It opens the door to foreign influence and corruption, which find a facilitated access to the government itself through the channels of party passion. There is an opinion that parties in free countries are useful checks upon the administration of the government and serve to keep alive the spirit of liberty. This within certain limits is probably true. From their natural tendency it is certain there will always be enough of that spirit for every

The whereabouts of the City of Flint continued to worry officials in Washington, Berlin's report to the United States was cryptic. It said location of the ship was "a military secret." The only word from the Russian government was that the U. S. Maritime Commission liner had left Murmansk after "engine repairs."

Pope Pius XII followed his encyclical with a message for all Christians to unite themselves with the Catholic church in a joint fight to "make the Christian life one of respect and honor."

REPUTATION THREATENED

Foreign Policy a Psychological Riddle

Editor Sees America Between War and Peace.

WHAT interests me and puzzles me is that the President should say and do a hundred things which he is not called upon by his office to do, judging, condemning, challenging, threatening other nations, all but daring them to war, yet blandly declare before God and man "I work and pray for peace."

It is a psychological riddle. I confess I don't understand the man. But I do think him inconsistent and unpredictable. An inconsistent, unpredictable man is no man to be three times President of the United States.

Obviously I make no pretense to a stoic impassivity in regard to the way things have been going in the Roosevelt administration. The President seems an emergency crisis. So do we all.

But the emergency and the crisis are not the invasion of our land by a foreign power. The emergency consists in this, that we are belittled war and peace; the crisis will be our entrance into war.

If we go in now, or soon, we shall go in more unprepared than France or England, perhaps as unprepared as Poland or Norway. Self-preservation is the first law of nature. We should stay out at least until we are ready to go in. There is more chance of our staying out with Wendell Willkie, who says we "must not fight another nation's war" than with Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has decided that another nation's war is our own.

Unless we are willing to "sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish" with beleaguered England, we had better stay out. We can stay out of war if on Nov. 5 we vote Franklin D. Roosevelt out of office.

SPEAKING a few years ago with one who seemed to be close to President Roosevelt—too close to suit some critics of the administration—I asked him what he really thought of the President. "I think all the Roosevelts are dangerous," he said. Whether he meant only Franklin and Eleanor and Jimmy and Elliott or

Rev. James M. O'Hilla, lecturer, editor of the Catholic World since 1922, and a member of the Paulist Fathers, declares in a leading editorial of the magazine's November issue that "we can stay out of war if on Nov. 5 we vote Franklin D. Roosevelt out of office." Excerpts from the editorial are republished herewith.

whether he harked back also to Teddy I don't know. Speaking for myself, I should certainly include the Rough Rider. Historians two or three hundred years hence will probably hold that Theodore Roosevelt started us on the wrong course that Franklin D. Roosevelt is now pursuing.

The imperialistic policy of the two Roosevelts contains more possibilities of disaster than any other of the numerous changes that have taken place in our laws and conditions. As a self-contained one-continent nation, we might go on indefinitely.

But interfering here, there, everywhere in Europe, Asia, Africa, in Australian and in the islands of the South Pacific we shall hasten the end of the great American experiment.

It is for this reason, above all others, that I think the electorate should hand Franklin D. Roosevelt and, of course, with him the whole box and dice of the Roosevelt's their walking papers on election day. We should say to him what canon law says to better, wiser, more humble, saintlier men, "Step down. Give place. You have had enough. More would certainly spoil you and would probably ruin us."

THE President seems to be afflicted with an incapacity—congenital or acquired, or both—of recognizing the consequences of his own actions. A recent sample is in a Dayton address of Oct. 12. "For many long years, the President says, 'every ounce of energy I have had has been devoted to keeping this nation and the other republics at peace with the rest of the world. That is today the objective for which I hope and work and pray.'"

Yet he repeatedly castigates the dictators, calls them names, threatens and challenges them all, presumably as a means of preserving peace.

Whether the President of the United States is wise to speak thus truculently, whether it is within his province to create and declare the policy of both North and South America; whether he has a mandate from the people to challenge the dictators may be questioned.

Suppose he has. Let him then say honestly that he feels bound in duty and conscience to speak out even though the result be war. To say in one breath that he "works and prays for peace," and in the next breath to dare the dictators to knock the chip off his shoulder indicates an amazing intellectual obfuscation.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Wednesday, Oct. 29, 1930. Mrs. William Schreffler, former Marion resident, died in Newark, George B. Delauder, 81, retired wagon maker and hotel owner, died at his home in LaRue.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dennison of Green Camp. Miss Betty Fox, 29, was perched atop the Hotel Harding flagpole, thus gaining the distinction of being the first flagpole sitter to perform in Marion. She mounted the pole at 10 a. m. and announced that she expected to break her own previous flagpole record by remaining there until Monday at 2 a. m.

Mrs. Paul Knauss of Bellefontaine avenue and Mrs. Harry L. Petri of South Prospect street were in Toledo attending a western conference missionary convention of the United Lutheran Church of America.

The Nine to Twelve Dance club opened the winter season with a Halloween dance. The committee in charge included Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Davis, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Branch Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Misch, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Sams, and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Holly.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Friday, Oct. 29, 1920.

Senator Harding in a rear platform speech at Urbana said that America's service to mankind should not be limited to promoting peace among nations but should promote peace among men. Judge Grant Mouser was one of the principal speakers in a Republican mass meeting at Dayton. He voiced a strong plea for the election of Senator Harding for the presidency. He said "If Harding is elected, and I know you people of Montgomery county will do all you can to put him over next Tuesday, he will do all in his power to provide for America and the world a means of safety and protection."

Members of the Marion Normal school organized with election of Miss Alice McClure as president, Miss Stella Myers, vice president, Miss Lorena Houser, secretary, Miss Dorothy Fetter, assistant secretary, and Miss Merlin Stonebraker, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Martin of East Center street left for Ada where Mr. Martin was to take a post graduate course at Ohio Northern university preparatory to taking his state bar examination in December.

Califoreigners

Down in Dade County, Florida Try To Be Kindly But West Pests Try Our Patience.

By DAMON RUNYO

ACCORDING to a Hollywood columnist, an elaborate preview out in California was shown ahead of the feature. When a display was made of a ming beaker of Florida orange juice were hisses and boos from the audience.

Private reports to us from Florida that feeling runs high down there on incident. The Florida consul in California been instructed to investigate and. Furthermore, we have been asked, as an expert on interstate relations, to render an opinion as to whether or not the matter constitutes a casus belli, whatever that is.

Ofhand, we would say no. The hissing and booing of the Florida orange juice is reprehensible and greatly to be deplored, but we cannot believe on the testimony at hand it is serious enough to warrant a bust-up between the states. After all, it may have been a case of mistaken identity. All orange juice looks pretty much alike in Tech. and it could be that the members of the audience thought they were being shown the native juice.

Again, we are willing to consider the possibility that the hisses and boos were leveled specifically for the Florida orange. Perhaps the audience was just warning the hissing and booing department: feature picture and the orange juice at an inopportune moment. We like to all sides of a question.

If it had been a Florida grapefruit the hissed and booed it would be a different matter. No argument as to possibility of error could be accepted. The mistaking the size, contour and sex of the Florida grapefruit under any circumstances. Anybody could tell a Florida grapefruit met one in a dark alley. Naturally, aspect to this growing jewel in the horticulture of the land of shimmering water deemed by all loyal Floridians lese majeste maybe downright meanness.

We are not going to pass judgment on Hollywood incident until we learn more the audience that emitted the hisses and boos. It should develop that the hisses and boos were genuine Californians, reprisals we could follow. However, our observation innate courtesy and broadmindedness genuine Californians will not permit us absence of definite proof, to believe the be guilty of the boorish conduct in although we must admit we have never put to the supreme test of having orange juice flaunted in their faces.

It is our guess the hisses and boos floaters in Hollywood who, for one reason, had been barred from Florida the custom in Florida to take unwelcome to the northernmost limits of the state, them in a westerly direction and then a swift kick in the pants. It is the propulsive powers of the sturdy may carry some of them clear to California.

IN fact, in the interests of the improvement of the relations between California and Florida we have recently been agitating in direction and aiming the unwanted the tendency in Florida, especially in Dade county, is more and more toward treatment of the genuine Californians occasionally come our way. Our chief so far is distinguishing the genuine from imitation. We often get visitors down county who register from California out to be just movie guys who only live As evidence of our personal feelings genuine Californians, we may cite the last winter during the unusual weather staked no less than five of them blankets, and permitted one to sleep abandoned sun cabinet at the Herm. Hibiscus island.

It is true the blankets were never r but we do not hold that against the Calif. We figure they may need them at home think, however, that our sun cabinet should bring back the cabinet. What suppose he can do with it in California? (Copyright, 1940, King Features Synd.)

NEW YORK.—The way to tell whether are eating blueberries or huckleberries is

If they're huckleberries, the seeds will under your teeth. No crackle means blueberry.

The New York state agricultural experiment station explains that the huckleberry has a hard, bony covering rounded by a large seeds, like a minute peach pit. This produces crackle. Blueberries have many seeds but they always noticeable when the berry is eaten. There is another indicator. Huckleberries are sprinkled with resinous dots on the side. You won't find them on blueberries. Prof. G. L. Slate, small fruit specialist station, reports blueberries are by far eating. But the whole thing is confusing. blueberries often are called huckleberries the swamps in which they grow are referred as huckleberry swamps.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

The Chief Grants Permission for Olga To See the Jewels—But Insists That He and Others Be Present.

BEHIND ME, as I ran, I heard two voices calling, "Madge! Stop!" One was Lillian's, peremptory, wishing, I knew, to save me the chagrin of having my errand to my father prove fruitless, as she believed it would.

The other was Olga's remorseful at the thought of having unwittingly urged me into something I ought not to do. But there was an unconscious note in her voice to which my heart reacted, a note of hope that I might be able to wrest from my father the boon she craved.

I heeded neither voice, but hurried on noiselessly as I could until I reached my father's door. I had to wait until I could catch my breath before I raised my hand to knock on it, but I did not need any time to plot my course. There is only one way of approach to my father, and that is the direct one. He hates circumlocution, even the suspicion of it.

He knows my knock, and he opens the door himself, scrutinizing my face with his keen, yet loving eyes.

"What is it, my darling?" he asked. "I know you have something important to tell me." His tone abashed me, made me suddenly aware that my errand was after all a puerile one. It subtly indicated that he knew I would not have come to him in this critical time if it had not been necessary for me to see him.

No Time To Retreat But there was no use retreating now I must go on with what I had come to say.

"I am sorry, Father," I said. "I see I should not have come. But I want to ask you if Olga may not know of the return of the emeralds, and perhaps see them when Philip does."

His eyes were fixed upon me, keenly questioning, and I felt a sudden kinship to an impaled fly. "Why?"

"The monosyllabic had something of a bullet's force, and I kept myself from flinching only by a mighty effort."

"Because her mother wishes it so much," I said simply. His face relaxed its sternness, and an indulgent smile quirked the corners of his mouth.

"You are a brave child," he said. "Why does mother wish it?" "Why does mother wish it to comfort her child?" I countered. "Olga is suffering—oh, I know it's her fault, but her mother would like to cheer her, and the emeralds were one day to have been Olga's. So she wondered if you were set against Olga's seeing them. Please believe that she did not ask me to come on this errand. I came, indeed, against her protest and that of Lillian."

"I can well believe that," he said. "But—did you tell me that the emeralds were one day to have been Olga's?"

"Yes," I answered. "Then," he said, "talking one first emphatically against the palm of the other hand, she shall see them when her future stepfather does."

"Oh! Father!" I exclaimed, but found, that I want to show them to him myself. After they had had a few minutes together, have Lillian bring them over here, and you go to Olga's room, and fetch her over here also. Then, when they are all assembled, I shall exhibit the emeralds again. How does that plan impress you?"

It did not impress me at all, for I knew that Olga wished to tell Philip about the emeralds in private. But I could not say that to my father, so I spoke quickly and warily.

"I think that might work out," I said, and he laughed as he bent to kiss me.

"I'm afraid you're incurable," he said, "but as I told you, this is no time for sentiment. Now go back to Olga, and have them all back here in ten minutes."

MAN KILLED IN WYANDOT CO.

Train When Walking Tracks Near Upper Sandusky.

Special to The Star
UPPER SANDUSKY, Oct. 28.—A man, identified as a resident of Cleveland, was instantly killed here last night when struck by a train while walking on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks one and one-half miles east of here.

Sheriff John Long, who is conducting an investigation of the accident, said the tentative cause of the death was established by a special security card in the man's clothing. An attempt was made today to contact members of the Pryzula family in Poland to verify the identification.

The man was struck by the Pennsylvania's "Trail Blazer" train at 6:30 p. m. while the train was on an eastbound run from Upper Sandusky to New York. Engineer Edward J. Ludwig of Ft. Wayne, Ind., was at the controls when he saw the man walking on the tracks and attempted to stop the train, but it was too late.

He said he applied the brakes as soon as he saw that the man was on the tracks but that the train struck the victim a short time before it came to a stop. Ludwig ran to Curtis farm home nearby and summoned an ambulance but the victim was dead when the ambulance arrived.

Deputy Long expressed opinion that the victim was either intoxicated or seriously ill before the accident. He quoted Engineer Ludwig as saying the man "seemed to be walking towards the train," adding that he apparently did not hear the whistle. Mrs. Adrian Courtad, who lives on a small east of the scene of the accident, told Deputy Long that she saw a man answering the description of the victim "wandering on and off the tracks" near her home about an hour before the mishap. That time the man was walking west, in the general direction of Upper Sandusky, she said.

The body was brought to the Bringham & Co. funeral home here pending verification of the victim's identity.

The huskers won't be called into battle until tomorrow at 11:45 a. m. but there will be action aplenty today with husking teams from Canada and other foreign countries.

Vote Delayed in Anti-Gambling Act

prepared to prove that the gambling slips, even though found in a person's possession, have actually been used for gambling.

The ordinance has been under study of council committees for several weeks, and Rev. Himes has been before council several times in the interest of the proposal. At the last previous council meeting, Rev. Himes was assured the proposal would be brought up for action last night.

Up to Final Reading

It was given the three separate readings required before final action can be taken, and it was just before the final roll call to determine the fate of the measure that Councilman Biggart offered his first remarks.

"I have the highest regard for the Ministerial association and the council committees that have recommended this," he said, "but I understand from the city solicitor that there isn't an item of gambling in the ordinance not already covered by a previous ordinance—even though the old one was passed back in 1878. Furthermore, it would require 150 to 200 policemen to enforce this ordinance."

He added that council can not put an end to gambling by passing laws. "I have to live with my conscience," he added as he announced his plans to vote against it.

Councilman Dorsey said he understood the measure would cover conditions that didn't exist when the 1878 ordinance was drafted, and that it would simply bring the old one up to date.

"Did the original ordinance cure gambling?" Councilman Biggart asked.

Points to Obstacle

Rev. Himes asked permission to answer Mr. Biggart, explaining that "one of the obstacles that the present ordinance unenforced is that it has been too difficult to prove gambling cases. This ordinance establishes rules of evidence that make it easier to enforce the law. In answer to Mr. Biggart's question, there have been laws against murder longer than laws against gambling, but murder is not wiped out. However, murder laws are more rigidly enforced than gambling, and consequently we have less of it."

"The Ministerial association is not looking for a big social reform as a result of this ordinance, but would like to make it easier for police to curb open gambling."

Councilman Primm objected to the fact the ordinance did not cover card playing.

Councilman Biggart commented he didn't want to leave the impression he was opposed to the ordinance because it was against gambling. He said he didn't feel it would be enough of an improvement over the old law.

Councilman Wilhelm commented that Police Chief Marks had voiced a hope the ordinance would be passed.

Await Full Attendance

Councilman Biggart suggested council wait until all members are present before taking the final vote. This was agreed on in a motion, but before this was disposed of Rev. Himes made a further statement to council. He said Marion is widely known for the "wide open" operation of gambling activities and declared that two large "policy houses" have headquarters in Marion. He said that open, public patronage of the numbers game and other gambling had a bad influence on the community, especially on young people, and the Ministerial association felt the ordinance would give police a better chance to curb this activity. Before the subject was dropped, council arranged to have a clause put in the proposed ordinance repealing the 1878 gambling ordinance, which it would supersede.

How It Reads

The text of the ordinance follows: "Be it ordained by the council of the City of Marion, O., two-thirds of the members elected thereto concurring herein:

Section 1—Wagering upon races, contests of skill, speed or power of endurance of man or beast, or upon any lottery, "policy" or "number game," or other schemes of chance by whatever name, style or title denominated, and the making and recording of such wagers are hereby declared to be detrimental to the morals and welfare of the inhabitants of the city of Marion.

Section 2—Except as permitted by the Horse Racing Act of the General Code of Ohio, it shall be unlawful for any person to make any wager upon, or for any person, firm or corporation, acting by or through its agents or employees, to receive and hold any money wagered upon any race, contest of skill, speed or power of endurance of man or beast, or upon any lottery, "policy," "number game" or scheme of chance....

Section 3—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to record any wager or sell pools or have in his, its or their possession any apparatus, book or books or device for recording wagers or selling pools upon the result of any trial or contest....

Section 4—It shall be unlawful for any person to have knowingly in his possession or in his custody or under his control any ticket, check, writing, slip, paper or document which represents or is a memorandum of or evidence of or which is designed or intended to be used in the process of making, settling, paying, registering, evidence of recording any wager upon the result of a race,....

Three further sections of the ordinance make possession of gambling slips unlawful, provide penalties ranging up to a fine of $500 or six months imprisonment or both, and make the ordinance an emergency measure immediately effective upon adoption by council.

Insurance Problem

In a conference in the mayor's office prior to last night's meeting, councilmen were informed by Mayor Snare that the Ohio Insurance Bureau is preparing to re-rate Marion for fire insurance. The city now has a "last chance" to avert a sharp increase in insurance costs, on industrial and business property.

Roosevelt Speaks in New York

"Then when public opinion rose up to demand it, they seized their trapeze with the greatest of ease, and reversed themselves in mid-air."

The big sports arena which seats about 21,000 was packed to the rafters. Eighty times the crowd broke into the presidential address with laughter, applause, or boos and hisses for Republicans.

The speech topped a 70-mile motor tour through northern New Jersey and New York city's five boroughs. Lewis Valentine, New York police commissioner, estimated 2,000,000 persons turned out to see the Chief Executive on the trip through New York alone.

In the garden, after a brief expression of sorrow that another war had begun aboard Mr. Roosevelt, he paused to answer "major campaign falsifications with facts."

Hits Arms Criticism

"I now brand as false," he said, "the statement being made by Republican campaign orators, day after day and night after night, that the rearming of America was slow, that it is hamstringed and impeded, that it will never be able to meet threats from abroad."

In their statements and in their votes in congress, he said, Republican leaders had written a record of "sabotage of this administration's continual efforts to increase our defenses."

He said they had accused him of being an "alarmist" when he proposed bigger defense appropriations. But, he interpolated, "I've learned by now to take it on the chin."

Addressing the American people to support a continuance of an "affirmative, realistic fight for peace," he said the alternative was "to risk the future of the country in the hands of those with this record of timidity, weakness and short-sightedness or in the inexperienced hands of those who in these perilous days, are willing recklessly to imply that our boys are already on their way to the transports."

He did not speak Wendell L. Willkie's name.

Declaring that falsifications, if repeated over and over, were likely to create a sense of fear and doubt in the minds of some Americans, Mr. Roosevelt had this to say as to the state of the national defenses:

"Today our navy is at a peak of efficiency and fighting strength. Ship for ship, and man for man, it is as powerful and efficient as any that ever sailed the seas in the history of the world."

"Our army of our air forces are now at the highest level they have ever been in peace time. But in the light of existing dangers, they are not great enough for the absolute safety of America."

To Representative Fish of New York, ranking Republican member of the House foreign affairs committee, the President attributed the 1838 statement that "we have the largest and most powerful navy we ever had, except for two years after the World war, and the greatest air forces we ever had and a match for any nation."

He said former President Hoover had "complained" the same year that "we shall be expending $900,000,000 more than any nation on earth. We are leading in the arms race."

Greece Appears To Be Only Pawn in Axis Plans

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

The battle of Greece is still young and thus far there is no indication that the engagement—which in its essence is a duel between British naval strength and axis land and aerial forces—has produced anything of marked advantage for either side.

This estimate admits the grimly realistic viewpoint that Greece is merely a pawn which is being used by the axis for strategic purposes. Despite the gallant resistance of her troops in the early fighting, it is likely she may have to succumb to the vastly superior strength of the invaders. Unfortunately for the Greeks, the British navy can't go ashore to defend its little ally.

Whether Greece is occupied by the Italians isn't the paramount issue, however, in the long run, both for Greece and for Britain, is that Mussolini's assault presumably is a part of the great offensive which the axis projects against the British in the whole Mediterranean area. The main purpose of the Fascist attack is to secure air and naval bases for a drive against the Dardanelles in an effort to crash through the Turks into the Near East.

This purpose will be stymied to large degree if the British occupy the strategic islands, particularly the big island of Crete, which form a barrier across the mouth of the Aegean sea and thus protect the Dardanelles and Turkey from Italian naval operations.

The British were reported to have occupied Crete at the outset but London military circles now have denied that troops have been put ashore. Whether this means that the British don't control Crete isn't made clear, but if their ships do not dominate this vital position it is more than passing strange.

MARION MAN HIT BY TRAIN AT COLUMBUS

William Harris in Serious Condition at Hospital.

William Harris, 38, of 151 Glad street was seriously injured when struck by a train at Columbus yesterday.

Marion County Draft List Ready

How It Works

For example, if the first serial number drawn in Washington is No. 978. Then in all three districts in Marion county the men with serial No. 978 would also have Order No. 1.

However, if the next serial number drawn is 2,000, it would apply only to Marion County Board No. 1 which has 2,232 registrations. The other two boards do not have 2,000 registrations, so they merely disregard No. 2,000 and use the next number drawn as Order No. 2.

Other Cases Will Arise Where the serial number drawn in Washington is higher than the total of any of the districts in the county—say No. 3,000. Then all three county boards would disregard this number and use the next one drawn.

Some Vacancies

Another factor which will create differences is that there are vacant serial numbers on the lists of some boards because of residence transfers.

Still another complication comes from the registered men who have volunteered for service. These men—six in the county, two on each board so far—will not have order numbers at all, but will have the letter "V" instead, denoting that they have volunteered and will be sent to camp before any one else, provided they pass examinations.

Their serial numbers are disregarded when the boards assign order numbers.

Here is a sample of how the drawing will work:

Serial No. 978 is drawn in Washington as Order No. 1. It will also be Order No. 1 in all three Marion county boards.

Serial No. 2,000 is drawn in Washington as Order No. 2. It will be Order No. 2 for Board No. 1, but not for Boards No. 2 and 3 which do not have that number.

Serial No. 1,101 is drawn in Washington as Order No. 3. It will be Order No. 3 for Board No. 1, but will be Order No. 2 for Boards No. 2 and 3.

Serial No. 3,000 is drawn in Washington as Order No. 4. It will not apply anywhere in Marion county and is skipped.

Serial No. 238 is drawn in Washington as Order No. 5. It will be Order No. 4 for Board No. 1, and Order No. 3 for Boards No. 2 and 3.

Serial No. 472 is drawn in Washington as Order No. 6. It will be disregarded in Board No. 1, which has a vacancy in that number. It will be Order No. 4 for Boards No. 2 and 3.

And so on until all the numbers have been drawn in Washington. When it's all over, every man who registered will have not only a serial number (most of which have been assigned) but also an order number.

The serial numbers are those numbers used in the drawing. The order numbers are those drawn out in the lottery and they determine the order in which the registrants go into service.

Willkie

hundreds of Legionnaires supervised traffic.

The sky was overcast but there was no immediate threat of rain. The weather, however, was the center of a tug of war. About 500 fox hunters, here for the annual trials of the Ohio Fox Hunters association, wanted rain to help the scent. The Republican politicians wanted sunshine.

Scores of hounds ramped about the streets, their burks mingling with the cries of hawkers selling flags and Willkie buttons.

Several sound trucks cruised about, exhorted motorists to keep their cars off the streets, and not interfere with the parade.

Schools, banks and business establishments were closed.

Willkie, replying to President Roosevelt's New York address, declared enroute to Jackson today that Republican insistence on keeping congress in session had made possible an extra seven billion dollars in defense appropriations.

Cities Advise in June

The Republican presidential nominee, in a statement issued from his campaign train, contended that Mr. Roosevelt had tried to get congress to adjourn in June. The President, he asserted, suggested the international or defense situation did not require it. "Congress refused to go home," Willkie said, "because of the Republican insistence that it stay in session in view of the grave international situation."

"Since that time, congress has made appropriations and contract authorizations of $12,140,000,000 for necessary but unfulfilled defense requirements. That is seven billion dollars more than was in the pending bills at the time he (Mr. Roosevelt) suggested they go home."

"If in June congress had obeyed the President's behest to adjourn, the United States would still have seven billion dollars less defense on order than it now has."

"That demonstrates the unjustifiable nature of the 'third-term' attempt."

"Important as is this small bit of the record, I refer here only to a detail of the ineffective leadership of the third-term candidate."

Willkie's statement was recognized by members of his campaign staff as only a preliminary discussion of the President's address, which they said he probably would take up in detail today or tonight in one of his speeches.

The Republican nominee referred briefly to the defense situation last night in a speech at Louisville, Ky. in extemporaneous remarks after concluding his prepared text, he said.

The third term candidate may now call attention to the fact that some Republicans spoke against the defense program. The Republican party was the party of opposition, he said, the party of control and not of leadership. He knew how to lead America today would not be defeated.

"Why talk of this man as the peerless leader of democracy, who does not even know how to lead his own party?"

Willkie, whose schedule today took him into southern Ohio and West Virginia, received an ovation at Louisville from a crowd which filled the arena. His voice was hoarse, but it did not break in his half hour address.

"His speech was an appeal to the Democratic to oppose a third

SYCAMORE MAN CRASH VICTIM

John N. Hussey, 23, Killed in Automobile and Train Mishap at Lemert.

Special to The Star
SYCAMORE, Oct. 28.—John Nevins Hussey, 23, of Sycamore was killed almost instantly when a car in which he was riding crashed into a freight train at Lemert, two miles south of here. A companion, George Hayman, 23, of northeast of Sycamore, was seriously hurt.

Officials investigating the accident reported that youths were returning to their homes here after spending the evening at Bucyrus and apparently failed to see the train at the Lemert crossing. The car was driven by Hayman, they reported.

Coal Car Derailed

The automobile struck a coal car and several cars were derailed. Hussey was dead when members of the train crew removed the body from the wrecked car. Hayman was removed in the Moore ambulance from Sycamore to Mercy hospital in Tiffin.

Hospital attendants reported today that he suffered fractures of several bones in the face and described his condition as "very serious."

Dr. G. T. Wasson of Bucyrus, acting coroner for Crawford county, reported that Hussey died of a fractured skull and a crushed face.

Hussey's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Hussey and Hayman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hayman.

Sycamore Native

Hussey was a native of Sycamore and spent his entire life here with the exception of a short time when he was employed in a Lorain factory. Surviving with the parents are four brothers and five sisters, Maria, Charles, Angel and Oak Harbor, Mich., Harry Hussey of Sycamore, Mrs. John Nellick of Tiffin, Burke Hussey of Bucyrus, Miss Clara Louise Hussey of Bucyrus and Earl, Robert, Mabel and Phyllis, all at home.

Private funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 3 p. m. at the Moore funeral home here with Rev. C. F. Bruns in charge. Burial will be in Mexico cemetery near Sycamore.

NEW AXIS DRIVE SEEN AIMED AT PORTUGAL

By The Associated Press
ROME, Oct. 28.—Foreign circles expressed belief today that axis pressure soon may fall on Portugal in a diplomatic drive to secure control of the whole west coast of Europe and Africa in preparation against the possibility of the United States entering the war.

The London at Florence yesterday of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, Italian sources indicated, was a step toward final settlement with France which would make French bases, and possibly the French navy, available to the axis powers.

Next, they said, probably will be direct peace negotiations between Italy and France. Mussolini returned to Rome today.

Term for President Roosevelt on the ground that it would destroy the two-party system. He argued that a "New Deal party" had taken over the Democratic party.

"It is unlike the Democratic party," he said. "Its principles are as hostile to those of the Democratic party, and they are as fatal to it, as the fungus is to the oak."

"It is this New Deal party that now makes its ultimate grasp for power—the repeal of the rule against the third term—that its reign may continue in perpetuity."

Saying a principle against a third term had been tested by generations, the Republican presidential nominee asserted "this is the common law of the United States—that no man should be eligible for a third consecutive term as president."

"The American people... know what it would mean to repeal the law against a third term," Willkie continued. "It means the destruction of the two-party system, of us all by a single party at the expense of the rights of a single man."

"The Democratic party—the real Democratic party—is thus faced this year with a dilemma. The registered Democrats must decide whether they are going to adhere to the principles of the Democratic party or submit to the unprincipled rule of its New Deal kidnappers."

"The Democratic party has been in power nominally for the last few years," Willkie said.

"What has been the influence of men like John Nance Garner of Texas, a man like Senator Tydings of Maryland, or Senator Byrd of Senator Glass? These men, staunch Democrats, and a host of their like, have had to fight against a new party, a rash and overbearing party of the New Deal."

MAP OF NEW THEATER OF WAR

War broke out in a new quarter of Europe as Italy attacked the Greek border from Albania (2) and aimed a naval blow at Corfu (1). Anti-aircraft guns went into action at Athens (3). British aid was promised and it was believed that British naval units were en route from Malta (6) and Alexandria (7). Eastern Mediterranean bases at Beirut (8) and Haifa (9) were also mentioned.

Yugoslavia would remain neutral, London sources said, but air raid precautions had been ordered throughout Bulgaria (10) for the first time of the war. What Turkey (5) would do was a question, but she has said that an attack on Greece would be considered a threat to the Dardanelles (4).

Italy's advance into the Balkans was seen as a move to secure a base for operations against the British in the Middle East.

$400 Figured As Cost for Housing Each Soldier and Keeping Him Happy

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON—The war department figures it will cost $400 to house each one of our soldiers and provide the buildings and grounds needed to train him and keep him happy.

That is the figure to which the department cost breaks down it covers the per man cost of not just barracks but of a station hospital, mess hall, recreation buildings and grounds, administration buildings, warehouses, laundries, refrigerating plants, roads, and, of course, grading a drill field.

It has nothing to do with food. William S. Knudsen, of the national defense commission, sagely remarked that men in the service eat about the same as they do at home except that if a man is in the army he drinks more coffee and if he is in the navy he eats more catsup.

But in these days, army officers recognize that it takes more to build an army than just feeding men and teaching them how to march and handle a gun. Twenty odd years of working with men in the citizen's military training corps and the reserve officers training corps have given the army a fund of information it did not have in 1917.

Aim To Build Spirit
And the war department wants an army that not only knows how to handle arms, but has the spirit to handle them well, a spirit that flows from good health and the conviction that it has something worth fighting for.

GALION AND KENTON HEAR CONG. SMITH

Calls Solvent Treasury One of Best National Defenses.

Dr. Frederick C. Smith, Eighth district congressman and candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket, addressed two meetings yesterday at Galion and today spoke before a group of Kenton business men at a luncheon meeting in that city.

Yesterday afternoon Congressman Smith addressed a meeting at the Galion Republican Women's club at the library and last night spoke over a public address system in the square.

At Galion Congressman Smith discussed the national issues, emphasizing the fact that the cost of government has doubled in the last seven years and at the same time taxes also have doubled, while the federal debt has mounted. This is not consistent, he maintained. He opposed the third term sought by President Roosevelt, affirming that "we do want to have another election."

He advocated silence on the part of the administration on European affairs, stating that it was possible Great Britain would be able to hold out and "Europe within will revolt against the present dictators."

At Kenton Congressman Smith discussed defense measures and cited as the country's first line of defense a solvent national treasury. He told his listeners he would never vote to sacrifice American manhood on the battlefield of Europe.

Retired General Organizes Defense Corps in West

By The Associated Press

TACOMA, Wash.—A home defense corps that includes ground forces, cavalry and a harbor defense navy recruited exclusively from civilian ranks and which will use civilian equipment is being organized here.

Its commanding officer, a retired major general, believes it can serve as a model for cities throughout the nation.

Preparing for war, earthquakes, fire or flood, the ground forces will be trained as fire fighters, first aid helpers, evacuation leaders, rescue crews, anti-sabotage guards and a host of other emergency duties.

The cavalry will patrol power transmission lines, guard dams and reservoirs and protect bridges and highways. It began training several weeks ago.

The "navy," being formed among Tacoma yacht club members, will patrol the waterfront shorelines that run past ship-building yards, chemical plants, gasoline depots and the Pacific northwest's biggest smelter.

This civilian "army" will assume duties normally delegated to the national guard. Major General David L. Stone, whose last command was the Panama Canal Zone, explained.

The model home defense corps is headed by the mayor and General Stone who is assisted by three executive officers. Beneath them are four advisory boards: finance, civil, military and a constant group that will cooperate with national and Washington.

DICTATORSHIP	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes

IT IS LATER THAN YOU THINK! Every dictatorship that has been established maintains the appearance of legality in the country in which it exists.

NEVER IN YOUR LIFETIME has your RIGHT to vote been so important to YOU. Never before in the history of this Nation has the citizens' freedom of choice been so imperiled as it is today. Elections are a farce in dictatorships. Germans, Italians and Russians have only one man to vote for. We have not reached that stage—yet.

But that stage is nearer than some of us think. Look at the Time-Table of Dictatorship at the left. Check each step. See how far we have already traveled down the road. See how little there is left to go. What are YOU going to do about it?

The first thing to be done is to close that road—NOW! Our fathers thought they closed it when, realizing that the Constitution did not specifically forbid a third term, they set up a no-third-term tradition. They could not foresee the vast powers that any President now holds. The power to use the executive political machine to keep himself in office three times—five times—or for life. If the no-third-term tradition goes by the board, the people's freedom to choose their own government is gone. Only the no-third-term tradition stands between you and that menace today.

The principle of no-third-term-for-any-President is not a mossback tradition. Thirty-four states limit the tenure of their executives. So should the United States—and block the final step to permanent one-man rule. The American people must amend the Constitution so that it forbids—definitely and finally—more than two consecutive terms (or more than one six-year term). Otherwise—sometime, if not now—the last protection against the Man on Horseback will be gone.

READ what JAMES TRUSLOW ADAMS says against a THIRD TERM FOR ANY PRESIDENT

I am utterly opposed to a third term, not simply now but for any President whatsoever. This is not because of the beliefs of the Founding Fathers, although they were probably the wisest group of statesmen ever assembled here. Times change and we ourselves are now Founding Fathers for the future.

Times change, as I said. The original Founding Fathers, in a hastily drawn Constitution in the last few days of the Constitutional Convention—trying to limit both the powers and the method of election of a President—never conceived that some day he would have billions of money at his disposal; that he would have powers undreamed of and yet demand more and more to relinquish them; that he would try to control both Congress and the Supreme Court; that there would be a million Federal employees and many more millions of voters receiving money from the government and the President's appointees. Yet these things have come to pass. They are here today.

And now for the first time in a hundred and fifty years a President asks for twelve years of office on the ground of his indispensability and of a crisis. The evident egotism is enough to give us the measure of his self-opinion and political desires. What has happened to America—AND WHY?—if out of a population of 130,000,000 only one man can lead us?

Again, in this fast-changing world it can always be said that there is a crisis. In four years, if this war is over, however it may end, there will probably be a crisis, social and economic, of the first magnitude. So, if a President on that ground now demands twelve years in office and more powers, why not, in 1944, sixteen years and yet more powers, or for life with all powers?

If this is allowed there is no more American Dream, no more America. Now, and now only, is the time when possibly America can be saved by defeating the third term and the trend to government by one man and his satellites. Make no mistake. Practically all Europe, except Britain, has set the pattern and we have been following it step by step. The only chance left to save our way of life and the liberties of ourselves and our children and children's children is to vote against the permanent retention of office by any President by whatever name. The clock strikes for America, for its freedom and its Bill of Rights, as you cast your ballot on Election Day. God Bless America.

READ what NORMAN VINCENT PEALE, D. D. says in an open LETTER TO THE CLERGY

I am presuming to write to you and to my brethren of the ministry only because the subject at hand is of such grave importance. As ministers of the church we are vitally concerned with the present decision regarding the maintenance of the ancient third-term principle.

Religion gave birth to democracy and religion depends upon democracy for its strength in the future. The church has always been the cradle and citadel of democracy.

Now we face a threat to American Democracy. No man has ever before attempted to perpetuate himself and a vast political machine in power by seeking a third term. Bureaucrats being let down, forces are being set in motion which can result in dictatorship.

An American dictatorship would probably be more subtle and less crude than elsewhere, but none the less totalitarian. The technique is always the same. Five thousand years of recorded history reveal the method. Well intentioned at first, benevolent in appearance and perhaps in purpose, it inevitably results in the loss of the people's liberties.

Freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of worship, these cannot be tolerated by dictatorships, for their exercise would undermine their power. It is obvious why dictators cancel them. Regimented business, regimented labor, destroyed labor unions, regimented farming, dependence upon vast cynical city political machines in the name of idealism, all of these are in the picture of a developing American-style dictatorship.

When a President after eight years can impose his will upon a bewildered and fundamentally unwilling party once famed for its freedom of thought, it is in essence a dictatorship, rationalize it as we will.

We are not approaching this matter as partisans. Ministers ought not to engage in partisan politics, most of us believe. Nor is this an issue regarding the Executive as a man whom many ministers personally admire. We are dealing with a principle involving something far more fundamental than partisanship. The question is, "Shall we lower the bars and permit a venture that can lead this nation in the future, under unknown personalities who may be motivated not by our traditions of freedom but by the cynicism of power, to the abrogation of democratic and religious institutions?"

I personally feel this so strongly that I would not vote for my own brother for a third term. No man or men have immunity to the corrosion of power upon their souls. No man or men should take a stand against a basic tradition of our democracy.

READ what SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL says about a THIRD TERM

The third-term tradition is part of the armor of Freedom. It is a restraint against the abuse of power . . . as such it finds many forms, written or unwritten. Free men have always sought means to prevent political machines from perpetuating themselves in office.

The chief value of constitutions, written or unwritten, aside from prescribing the jurisdiction of various officers, and so preventing conflict and chaos, is that they place limitations upon power.

Human liberty may be legally defined as a restraint upon governmental power. When it is without restraint, there is no liberty, as witness Germany today.

The anti-third-term tradition is one of those restraints. Washington, Jefferson and Jackson formulated it, but the three or four hundred million Americans who have lived since 1787 have silently ratified it. It is like the common law. In not less than 34 states it is expressly written in their constitutions.

If there is any section of the country that has the obligation of history and party loyalty to oppose a third-term-for-any-President, it is the Southern states. Although most of the states of the Union have constitutional provisions limiting the tenure in office of their chief executives, this principle was extended to the presidency itself by the Constitution of the Confederate States. They made it impossible, even in wartime, for President Jefferson Davis, or anyone else, to fasten himself upon the sovereign nation they were attempting to create. They intended to make it impossible for any man to obtain an unbreakable grip upon government.

It is not strange, therefore, that the Democrats of the South are especially concerned at the threatened violation of what they have always considered an important principle of free government.

Not only is there this historical background, but it is also the truth that the principle has been urged more powerfully by the Democrats than by Republicans. No two men did more to establish it as the unwritten law of the whole country than the two greatest names in the Democratic Party, Jefferson and Jackson, both of whom had two terms and could easily have had a third. Both of them repeatedly urged that the principle be expressly written into the Federal Constitution.

For a hundred and fifty years it has been the Democratic Party which has made the chief fight against building up too great power in the central government. As a party, it was the first to declare in its platform of 1896 that it is the "unwritten law of this Republic that no man should be eligible for a third term of the Presidential office." This principle was again asserted in the platform of 1912.

TAKE THESE 5 STEPS TO PRESERVE YOUR FREEDOM

1 MAKE your loyalty to your country and its form of government—in this critical year—a positive, affirmative force. The men who made it risked their lives and their property in the cause of free government. Is it not worth a few hours of your time and sacrifice of some of your earnings to save what they made? Go into action!

2 READ this page to your family, your friends and associates. Telephone ten friends! Urge them each to call ten more. Get ten or more copies of this page for your neighbors and members of your union and your church. Make yourself a committee of one to get as many citizens as possible to discuss the Third-Term issue. Have them read what James Truslow Adams, Rev. Norman Vincent Peale and Samuel B. Pettengill say on this page against a Third Term for any President.

3 ASK your party's candidates for the Senate and Congress to vote for a constitutional amendment that shall remove the Third-Term danger forever. Andrew Johnson urged Congress on two occasions to pass such an amendment which Andrew Jackson had sponsored.

4 DO your full duty as an American citizen on Election Day. Arouse others to do likewise. Your own precious heritage of freedom and that of your children is at stake. Act while there is still time!

5 HELP to carry on the fight now and to work for a Constitutional Amendment to end the Third-Term menace forever as soon as Congress convenes in January. Unless this is a people's fight, it is lost. The growing nationwide response to the constitutional issue of no-third-term-for-any-President shows that the fight can be won. Send $1, $2, $3, $5, $10, $25 or MORE—as much more as you can possibly afford! Only with your support can this message reach millions more! CORNELL, NOTRE DAME AND MICHIGAN AGAIN DOMINATE POL Week's Games Not Likely To Worry Three Leaders; State "Also-Ran".

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—It still is Cornell, Notre Dame and Michigan. In that order, when the country's sports editors get down to appraising the top-flight college football teams.

For the second straight week of The Associated Press ranking poll, these three head the list—Cornell, apparently already "over the hump" enroute to its second straight all-winning season, and Notre Dame and Michigan, with their toughest assignments to come.

This Saturday, however, all three should be safe. Cornell isn't likely to have much trouble with Columbia, despite Lion Coach Lou Little's crack that "we'll try not to turn it into a rout when we go to Ithaca." Notre Dame probably will spend most of its Saturday afternoon trying to hold down the score against Army, and Michigan will be safest of all. The Wolverines will rest for a week in preparation for Minnesota, Northwestern and Ohio State.

For the rest of the first ten—eleven, actually, with Clemson and Georgetown tying for last place—this Saturday's schedule holds considerably more danger.

Big Game of Day
The A-1 attraction of the day will be played at Evanston, Ill., between Minnesota, ranked fourth, and Northwestern, eighth on the list. The fifth-place Texas Aggies will battle Arkansas, surprise conqueror of Mississippi last Saturday. Stanford will meet U.C.L.A., beaten five straight by a total margin of 22 points; Tennessee, which was unimpressive against Florida, will have to do better to whip Louisiana State; Boston College, after two straight soft touches, will find a little rougher going against Manhattan; Clemson will have its hands full and possibly more with Tulane, and Georgetown will stack its record of 21 games without defeat against comebacking Syracuse.

Cornell and Notre Dame dominated this week's first and second place voting. The Big Red with 81½ of the 160 first-place votes and 48 for second, the Irish with 40½ for first and 48 for second. Georgetown and Clemson were the newcomers to the front rank. In their deadlock, they took the place of Pennsylvania, bounced out of the select list by Michigan.

How They Stand
The rankings (points based on 10-9-8-7, etc., basis, first-place votes in parentheses):

- 1.—Cornell (81½) 1,461.5
- 2.—Notre Dame (40½) 1,316.5
- 3.—Michigan (16) 1,208
- 4.—Minnesota (13) 1,044
- 5.—Texas A. & M. (9) 970
- 6.—Stanford 738
- 7.—Tennessee 665
- 8.—Northwestern (1) 639
- 9.—Boston College (2) 491
- 10.—Tie between Clemson (2) and Georgetown 132

Second Ten: 12.—Nebraska, 42; 13.—Washington, 35; 14.—Navy, 23; tie for 15.—Pennsylvania and Southern Methodist, 17 each; 17.—Detroit, 11; tie for 18.—Penn State and Duke, 10 each; tie for 20.—Mississippi State and Santa Clara, 8 each.

Also-ran: Mississippi, 7; Auburn and Texas Tech, 6 each; Colorado and California, 3 each; Rice, Lafayette and North Carolina, 2 each.

WALKER WINS AGAIN

By The Associated Press
BALTIMORE, Oct. 25.—Jack "Buddy" Walker, Columbus heavyweight, knocked out Jack Trammell, Youngstown Negro, in the fifth round of a scheduled ten-round bout here last night. Walker weighed 180, Trammell 125.

TWO HORSES "SPONGED"

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, Oct. 29.—Stewards of River Downs race track probed today for the who-and-why in the sponging of two horses in yesterday's featured fifth race.

In fact, seven of Major Bob Neyland's brightest stars—three linemen and four backs—are home-grown products who didn't have to leave home to have their talent recognized.

You may find one or more of them in the All-America lineup at the close of the season if they play the same sparkling brand of football which crushed Duke 13-0. Here's the list:

Here they are:
Robert (The Ripper) Fox, a big blond lad who is making Tennessee fans forget about George Calogio in the important tailback spot. . . . Bob was the hero of the Duke conquest, passing to Substitute End Al Hurst for the first touchdown, kicking the extra point, and then scoring the second marker himself through the line. . . . He played for two years at the wingback position with little chance to shine as a ball carrier. . . . And now he has his chance for football glory for Tennessee's tailback does most of the passing, kicking, and running.

Johnny (Red) Butler, an eel-chipped little fellow who spells Fox at the tailback spot and can run, pass and kick with the best of them. . . . It was Johnny who broke loose in the Alabama game last year with a sensational 67-yard broken field run to spark the Vols to a victory over the Tide. . . . He came through with 67- and 50-yard runs against Alabama again this year.

Bob Suffridge, one of the finest guards in the nation and a defensive wheel-hass. . . . Bob's admirers thought he would have been out his teammate, Ed Molinski, for All-America honors last fall if he hadn't been injured in mid-season and forced to the sideline during the last half of the campaign. . . . But his bad knee appears to be coming along in good shape this year.

Bob Andridge, understudy to Fox last year, has been shifted to the wingback post on the starting lineup and is one of the most improved players on the squad. . . . He's fast, does the 100 in better than 10 seconds, and is the hardest blocker among the Vols.

Fred (Ox) Newman, a rangy, 192-pounder, was the only sophomore backfield man to get into the first-string lineup on Tennessee's undefeated, untied, and unscored-on team of 1929. This year he is alternating at wingback and fullback on the No. 2 team.

Hodges (Burr) West and Bill Luttrell alternate at right tackle.

SPORTS THE MARION STAR

Snatches of Sports

By EDDIE BRIETZ

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Week's Sports: Southern California borrowed Ernie Smith from the Green Bay Packers to teach the Trojans the famous T-formation of the Chicago Bears which Clark Shaughnessy uses at Stanford. (Shaughnessy, by the way, taught 'em to the bears). . . . New York U. replaces Fordham, and Vanderbilt succeeds Clemson on the 1941 Tulane card. . . . Tom Yawkey, who craves Sid Hudson, is waving his check book under Clark Griffith's nose.

Me and You Bofe, Boy
"Two Aztec linemen nominated for All-America births," screams a Texas paper. . . . which leads Jerry Stephens to write from McAllen, Tex., that personally, he thinks that's carrying the All-America idea too far.

The Rev. Herman Page, an Episcopal minister, helps coach the football team of U. of Dayton, a Catholic college. . . . when Paul Menton correctly tabbed the Syracuse-Columbia upset, it gave our guess stars a 500-batting average for the season. . . . One of the Michigan coaches says Tom Harmon does everything except grade the papers in the rhetoric department.

Political Note
What with all this egg, apple and tomato tossing, isn't it reasonable to suppose that Mr. Wilkie will get the unanimous support of the National Association of baseball umpires?

BUCKEYES DRILL FOR HOOSIERS AMID FUSS

Battle Over "Sideline Coaching" Still Raging.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 29.—Ohio State's Buckeyes, beaten three straight times, prepared today for Saturday's game here with the Indiana Hoosiers while controversy raged on over the accusation that Cornell Coach Carl Snavely directed his team to victory over the Bucks by signals from the sidelines.

L. W. St. John, Ohio State athletic director, protested the asserted signaling in a letter to Asa S. Bushnell of New York, executive director of the Eastern Intercollegiate association.

St. John said that Francis A. Schmidt, Buckeye coach, asked officials before the game last Saturday to be on the alert for signals from the sidelines, but William H. (Red) Friesell Jr., who refereed the contest, which Cornell won 21 to 7, said he saw no coaching from the bench.

Snavely said only that he "adjusted his team to the Ohio defense after spotting the Buckeyes' weaknesses quickly."

Meanwhile, Schmidt made two major shifts in the Ohio State lineup in an effort to find a winning combination with which to face Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, remaining foes on the Buck schedule.

Anderson's play in the Cornell game did not impress the coaching staff, so Massie, who failed to make the grade as halfback and right end, is being given a chance at the left end spot.

Billy Weidner Pleases Fans by Stopping Lott at Sho

Californian Tames Toughie in Straight Knox Tames Jimmy Heffner.

By The Associated Press

Billy Weidner, California newcomer to the local wrestling scene, played a hero's role and earned himself a warm spot in the hearts of Marion mat-goers in the 31 minutes he spent within the squared circle during his debut bout here last night. In that time he brought down the house by taming the Birmingham ruffian, Jimmy Lott, in consecutive falls of a co-featured main event.

Lott, minus the assistance of Jules LaRance, his helmsman in previous sessions, steering clear of his foe in his usual manner of rone-walking. He made himself more unpopular than ever with the use of a choke grip, slugging when ordered to break and his general contempt for his foe, the referee and spectators.

Dislike Tactics
But Weidner took all the starch out of the Alabama. Finally lured by Lott's unsportsmanlike display he traded blows and flattened the ill-tempered ringer. Weidner clamped on a rolling leg spread to finish the first fall in 16 minutes.

Wins in 3 Minute
Buddy Knox-Jimmy Heffner match went three falls taking two straight after the initial round. Heffner, an ankle scissors over-neck after flooring him series of shoulder butts to first fall in 17 minutes. He retaliated to cop the second minutes with a step-over and slam. He successfully ordered an Indian deathlock the winning grip.

Joe Wolfe of Columbus, Gil Knutson of Edmond in 11 minutes of the scheduled prelim. The barrage of body slams to capital city grappler in the first fall in 16 minutes.

Harding Eleven Hosts Galion Thursday Night

With most public schools observing a holiday Friday while instructors are attending teachers' meetings, important scholastic games in this section will be on deck Thursday night.

Marion Harding, still bidding for a share of the North Central Ohio conference crown, entertains the cellar-dwelling Galion Orangemen here Thursday at 7:45 p. m. St. Vernon invades Bucyrus in the only other league contest, while Ashland is host to Mansfield Saturday, and Shelby's Whippets are idle.

ELKS WILL SPONSOR MODEL PLANE CLUB

Taken As Aid to National Defense Program.

Arrangements for Marion Lodge No. 1232, Elks, to sponsor a Gasoline Model Airplane Club, as a part of the Elks' campaign to cooperate with national defense, were completed today at a meeting of the lodge at the Y. M. C. A. The club's activities will stimulate public interest in aviation but also serve as an educational medium for boys interested in future careers.

Plans were completed for a second model airplane club which will be held next Tuesday afternoon at the Guthrie Top farms at Big Island. The club, which will include both gasoline-powered and rubber-band-propelled planes, is scheduled to start at 2 p. m. and will be held without charge. The following Sunday, Nov. 4, members of the Marion club will take part in a model plane contest at Bucyrus, sponsored by the Elks club.

HAGUE DECLINES
By The Associated Press
NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 29—Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City declined today to appear voluntarily before a senate campaign investigating subcommittee and a subpoena was issued to compel his attendance.

MARION MAN FINED ON DRUNKEN DRIVING CHARGE

Harold Schweinfurth, 23, of 329 West Center street was arrested on a drunken driving charge by state patrolmen Monday night after a car he allegedly was driving left the highway and dropped into a ditch one mile west of Marion on Route 30-S.

He pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Hazen and was fined $100 and costs. His driving rights were suspended for six months. A companion, William Kepner, 19, of Prospect pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication and was fined $10 and costs.

Patrolmen said they received several complaints about a car zig-zagging across the highway west of Marion and that they found the Schweinfurth car in the ditch when they went to investigate.

GREECE

is spread all over Greece," the dispatch said.

Government quarters in Athens voiced mourning confidence that the Greek army—estimated at 100,000 under arms with 500,000 reserves—would hold fast against the Italian onslaught and perhaps even launch a counter-offensive into the Italian-dominated "puppet" state of Albania.

Following yesterday's assurances of "unlimited support" by King George VI and Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Britain's first lord of the admiralty, A. V. Alexander, announced today that the British navy's help for Greece "has already begun."

Soviet Russia, the big question-mark in the new conflict, appeared to be standing pat on her policy of watchful neutrality.

The Moscow press published lengthy but noncommittal reports from abroad on the spread of the war into the Balkans near Turkey, Russia's close friend.

With mobilization geared to top speed, Greece's King George II took over supreme command of his small fighting forces, while Athens and other Greek cities toiled feverishly to expand hospital facilities and build up air-raid defenses.

Athens Has Quiet Night

Athens passed a quiet night, and so far no bombs had fallen into the ancient capital although anti-aircraft guns on Mt. Lycabettus, 900 feet above the streets, fired repeatedly yesterday at raiders overhead.

At Patras, third Greek city, air-raid casualties were listed at 50 killed, and more than 100 wounded.

The Italian assault apparently was the first step in a drive to cut Britain's hold on the eastern Mediterranean.

"Go ahead, soldiers of Greece," Premier Gen. John Metaxas said in a message to his army, "crush the enemy who has dared attack our country's honor!"

Reports that Turkey, a friend of both Greece and Britain, was moving units of her 2,000,000-strong army to the Greek frontier were unconfirmed, but the government newspaper at Ankara declared, "we prefer the hell of war to a dishonorable peace."

While refraining from comment, Turkish officials drew attention to a government spokesman's previous statement that Turkey would aid Greece, if she were attacked by Italy—providing Britain carried out her pre-war promise of aid.

Authoritative sources in London saw the offensive against Greece as part of a vast axis drive aimed at the Near East and Egypt, and perhaps at Gibraltar in the west.

In this connection, observers noted Madrid reports that Gen. Jose Varela, Spanish minister of war, had flown to Cabo Yubi, in Spanish northwest Africa, on a trip believed to be a development of the recent talk between Adolf Hitler and Spain's chief of state, Gen. Francisco Franco.

London Raids Lighten

The German air force continued its steady assaults upon England during the night, but the attacks directed mainly at London and the industrial Midlands—were described by British sources as comparatively light, and the government indicated casualties were few.

British bombers, meanwhile, struck again at objectives in Germany and ports and airbases in German-occupied territory on the continent.

National Girl Scout Week Being Marked in Special Troop Activities

Girl Scouts of Marion are joining the more than 600,000 Girl Scouts throughout the nation in the annual observance of National Girl Scout Week which opened Sunday. Each day during the week has been set aside for special observance centering on a special Girl Scout interest.

Cooperating with the Scouts are members of the Girl Scout council who met Monday evening with Mrs. Clyde Faust of True avenue to complete plans for the pilgrimage to the Harding memorial Sunday, and also to install officers for the coming year.

To Meet Sunday

The Girl Scouts and their leaders will meet at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Central Junior High school and go to the Harding Memorial where a wreath will be placed at the grave of Mrs. Harding, a custom which has prevailed since the council was organized eight years ago. Following the ceremony, Troops 3 and 11, assisted by their troop committees, will be hostesses at a tea at the Marion-Reserve Power Co. building on West Center street. Guest will be the Girl Scouts and leaders taking part in the pilgrimage. Troops and councils at Kenton, Richmond, Upper Sandusky, Bucyrus, Lima, Gallon, Mansfield, Mt. Gilad and Delaware have been invited to take part in the pilgrimage and attended the tea.

More than 500 Girl Scouts attended church services on the opening day of Girl Scout Week. Monday was observed as Home-making day, Tuesday Arts and Crafts day, Wednesday Thrift day, Thursday Hostess day, Friday Citizenship day, and Saturday Health day. As in former years the troops will exhibit the results of their work on troop projects in the uptown store windows.

Officers Installed

Mrs. F. L. Thomas, who has served as commissioner for the last three years, and Mrs. E. E. Smith, who was commissioner for two years preceding Mrs. Thomas, presided for the installation of the following officers at the council meeting Monday night: Mrs. E. O. Smith, first vice commissioner; Mrs. Harriette Houghton, second vice commissioner; Miss Ruth Kramer, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Oliphant, treasurer. Committees appointed by Mrs. E. D. Smith, new commissioner are: Training, Miss Elma Hawser.

ATTENDANCE CONTEST OF MARION LIONS CLUB ENDS

An attendance contest held by the Marion Lions club ended at a luncheon meeting at Hotel Harding Monday with teams headed by Walter Kraft and Jack Danner sharing first place. Members of the winning teams will be awarded prizes at a growler to be held in the Marion Club rooms at Hotel Harding next Monday night.

Plans for a joint meeting of the Marion and Coshocton Lions club at Coshocton Dec. 4 were announced by F. L. Barnhart who also gave a short talk on Lionism. Art Wintersteller was introduced as a new member. Guests included Ben Petersen, Wayne Byers, Howard Kenyon, Ralph Carhart, Louis Hatfield, Robert Graham and Stanley Morse.

SESSIONS CUT DOWN AT CENTRAL SCHOOL

Precautions Taken After Burning Out of Boiler.

Half-day sessions will be held Wednesday and Thursday at Central Junior High school, following the burning out of a boiler in the rear building, Supt. E. E. Holt announced today. All schools will be dismissed Friday for the Central Ohio Teachers' meeting at Columbus.

Because of the danger to health in transferring from the unheated rear building to the heated main building, it was decided on the half-day schedule, the superintendent said.

All ninth grade pupils will attend classes Wednesday and Thursday mornings in the main building and the seventh and eighth grade pupils will attend classes in the main building in the afternoon. All classes will meet, but periods will be shortened to meet the half-day schedule.

This morning the seventh and eighth grade pupils attended classes the first two periods. Ninth grade pupils were in school all day, attending classes in the main building.

The cast iron sectional boiler in the rear building burned out yesterday when the tank into which the circulating hot water returns developed a leak and all the water ran out. There was no fire in connection with the incident, the superintendent said.

A new boiler was ordered yesterday through the Probst Supply Co. Installation will be completed over the week-end and regular classes will be resumed on Monday, according to Supt. Holt.

NEW HARDING CHOIR HAS FIRST MEETING

45 Present To Make Plans for Alumni Group.

The Harding High school alumni choir, composed of former members of Harding High school, held its first meeting last night at Central Junior High school with about 45 young men and women present.

L. G. Jones, supervisor of public school music and director of the high school choir, said he expects about 70 members when the organization is completed.

Hour and a half rehearsals will be held every Monday night at 7:30 at the Central auditorium. Present plans are for the alumni choir to join with the regular choir and former choir members now away at college, in presenting a Christmas program.

The alumni group is expected to provide recreation for those graduates who have not gone to college. Mr. Jones said. Several parties were discussed last night. All former members of Harding choir have been invited to attend the rehearsal next Monday night.
